Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Walker et al. (US 5,862,223).

Re claims 1 and 21, Walker teaches a computer implemented method for procuring services (abstract), comprising:

establishing a private marketplace to a predetermined set of buyers and a preidentified set of vendors (fig. 5); facilitating a buyer's inviting bids on a project from a subset of the vendors (col. 37, line 42 to col. 38, line 3); receiving at least one bid on the project from at least one of the subset of vendors (fig. 30); facilitating the buyer's acceptance of one of the bids (col. 38, lines 51-56; fig. 32); and facilitating work on the project by the vendor and the buyer in a collaborative workspace (col. 2, lines 47-63; col. 28, lines 39-52; fig. 35). In other words, Walker discloses collaborative workspace by matching the real work commerce. The bidding and auction are implemented in a network environment with matching experts.

However, Walker does not explicitly teach access restricted. Nevertheless, Walker discloses authenticated result that corresponds with access restricted (col. 30, lines 26-67; fig. 24 (element 2415)). He discloses the practice of using cryptographic protocols to ensure the authenticity of senders as well as the integrity of messages is well known in the art. Thus, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to access restricted information by having a authenticated system wherein the accessing of information is restricted to particular users as discloses in Walker.

Re claims 2, 12, and 22, Walker teaches private marketplace is an online marketplace and establishing the private marketplace further comprising customizing the look and feel of the online marketplace (col. 7, lines 5-29). Walker discloses customizing when he allows a user to produce a job request suitable for consideration by an expert. Thus, when a user changes the information as he sees suitable than he is customizing the information.

Re claims 3, 13, and 23, Walker teaches establishing of the private marketplace further comprises managing the pre-identified set of vendors (col. 8, lines 16-27). Walker discloses experts as corresponding to set of vendors. The experts are managed by the database system to see if they are qualified.

Re claims 4, 14, and 24, Walker teaches restricting the access of the buyers and vendors to one or more projects within the private marketplace (col. 25, lines 20-52). Walker restricts buyers and vendors to particular projects such as finance, real estate, medicine, or etc.

Art Unit: 3624

Re claims 5, 15, and 25, Walker teaches receiving invoices from the vendors for services provided by the vendors to the buyers, the invoices received at a centralized location (fig. 10);

consolidating at the centralized location the invoices received for the predetermined set of buyers (col. 22, lines 12-45); sending a bill from the centralized location to an owner of the private marketplace (col. 24, lines 22-60); receiving money at the centralized location from the owner of the private marketplace (fig. 13); and distributing the money to the vendors (col. 23, line 47 to col. 24, line 5).

Re claims 6, 16, and 26, Walker teaches obtaining project approval before one or more stages in the procurement of services (col. 26, lines 6-15). Walker discloses an expert accepting the project before one or more stages in the procurement of services.

Re claims 7, 17, and 27, Walker teaches monitoring the private marketplace (fig. 6).

In figure 6, Walker discloses the central controller as the monitoring system for the private marketplace.

Re claims 8, 18, and 28, Walker teaches monitoring the private marketplace further comprises generation of requested reports (col. 21, lines 12-26). Walker discloses requested reports when he generates a price for each end user request.

Re claims 9, 19, and 29, Walker teaches monitoring the private marketplace further comprises generation of planning reports (fig. 7).

Art Unit: 3624

Re claims 10, 20, and 30, Walker teaches monitoring the private marketplace further comprises generation of performance measurement reports (fig. 22). In figure 22, element 2220, Walker discloses list of graders as a performance measurement reports.

Re claim 11, Walker teaches a computer program as claimed in claims 1 and 21. In particular, Walker discloses program code when he teaches payment module to implement the application (fig. 10). Therefore the rationale applied in the rejection of claim 11 applies herein.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Bi et al, US patent no. 6,311,178, teaches matching system;
